

PRESS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Ryeco, LLC. Enhances Operations with the Implementation of Produce Pro Software

CHICAGO, ILL., September 20, 2016 – Ryeco, LLC., a staple at the Philadelphia Wholesale Produce Market for multiple decades has a mission to help grow the business and profit margins of their customers by offering an extensive product line with excellent quality and value pricing. As a way to amplify their level of service, Ryeco felt the need to enhance their operations and recently migrated to Produce Pro Software's ERP software solution in May 2016.

"As a business, we wanted to gain knowledge and visibility of our data more quickly to make better decisions, improve the bottom line and increase productivity," explained Filindo Colace, Vice President of Operations. "We originally heard about Produce Pro Software through a referral from one of their existing customers."

With an industry specific software system running their business operations, now they can take that sense of service to a whole new level with several features including:

- Real-time Inventory Management and Traceability
- Mobile Applications
- Pricing, Sales Order Entry, E-commerce

"The more the Ryeco team learns about the capabilities of the system including robust reporting and document imaging, the more excited we are to keep learning the program and enhancing our operation. The expeditious response to making program changes to fit our needs has also been exceptional," concluded Colace.

"Our goal is to provide an all-inclusive software solution for our customers to take full advantage of from inventory management to mobile applications and EDI integration," said Tony Zuccato, VP of Operations of Produce Pro Software. "Produce Pro allows our customers to streamline their operations by eliminating duplicate work and manual processes to focus on the total customer experience."
